Deserted Judge Nash

To Follow the Hero of Santiago.

Change In Program a Bad Break.

After Roosevelt Quit Talking It Was All Over.

Senator Alexander "Doing as He Was Told."

The speaking program Roosevelt day was changed so that at Grace park, in the afternoon, Governor Roosevelt spoke first, and Hon. Geo. K. Nash followed. This change was necessitated by Roosevelt's being obliged to leave the city earlier than Nash.

But the change was a great misfortune. The worst fears of the executive committee were realized. When Roosevelt's speech was concluded the crowds almost deserted the park.

During Roosevelt's speech there were present between 5,000 and 10,000 people. The Governor read his speech. His delivery was tedious, and he was very seldom interrupted with applause. The people apparently did not realize that they were listening to one of the greatest heroes of the Spanish-American war. It was really embarrassing, the lack of enthusiasm.

But when Judge Nash was introduced, amid the wild cheers of the committee on the grand stand, it was particularly noticeable that those who cheered were persons who were obliged to do so by their affiliation with the powers that be. Very few of the Republicans who think and do as they please were present to assist in the cheering. They were en route for the down-town districts to derive what pleasure they could from the brass bands and visiting delegates. The grand symphony rendition of "America" by all bands present at the park at the conclusion of the exercises did not materialize, from the fact that but two bands remained.

It must have been very embarrassing to Judge Nash to witness the disappearance of the crowds when he was introduced. It was really a great breach of etiquette on the part of the people, but perhaps the greater number had not received directions before they congregated. Even a fair-sized crowd left the grand stand. All but three or four of the newspaper men also left their tables. J. Park Alexander was there to receive the visitors on the grand stand. He made a few remarks to the crowd relative to who were entitled to the honor of seats on the stand. He was merely working as a matter of form. He was not enthusiastic, and said: "I am merely following directions; doing what I am instructed to do."

So far as any benefit to Candidate Nash was concerned the meeting was a "frost." The people came to see and hear Roosevelt. Gov. Bushnell's friends did all in their power to wet blanket the occasion by remaining away.

The Railsplitters of Toledo, made the hit of the day. Attired in neat fitting uniforms of purple and white, the organization presented a splendid appearance. All along the line of march they were enthusiastically applauded. They executed numerous difficult foot movements that showed a perfect knowledge of marching tactics. The club was headed by the Toledo Marine band, 36 pieces, one of the best in the State. Immediately after the parade the band serenaded the DAILY DEMO-CRAT. It was accompanied by the Railsplitters and the Lincoln club.

During the day it was rumored that Senator Hanna was to deliver one of his characteristic addresses at Grace park. Lovers of oratory were at the park to hear him, but he disappointed them. Uncle Mark was there but he had nothing to say, aside from the orders he gave to his agents. It was rumored Saturday night that at a conference of the friends of Judge Nash it was decided to have the Senator keep in the background as much as possible throughout the campaign. Mark has something to say about that. He is not going to take his orders from his own lieutenants.

In the parade there were 25 bands, composed of 635 musicians, an average of one hornblower to every 5½ men in line. The musicians received upon an average of $2.50 per day for their services, which does not include transportation. The salary of the players for Saturday was at least $1,387.50. Add to this $2 per man for transportation and expenses and it will be seen that the music alone cost Uncle Mark in the neighborhood of $2,500. And this was only one small item of the expense. His barrel is big and round, but it was hit hard Saturday.

Very few of those who were in the down town section followed the parade to Grace park. They were out to see the parade and hear the brass bands. After the marchers had passed enthusiasm was at low tide.

In an interview at Cleveland with a Plain Dealer reporter Senator Hanna had the following to say of his meeting here in Akron:

"The meeting at Akron," he said in answer to a question, "went far beyond our expectations. The crowd was larger and the enthusiasm ran higher than we had hoped for. It was a grand success all the way through. The campaign opening could not have been opened under better circumstances."

"Was Roosevelt's reception as enthusiastic as given him in the east on such occasions?"

"He was given a rousing reception," said Mr. Hanna, "and I think it was equal to anything that could be done for him anywhere. I never was present at any of his eastern receptions."

"Did it satisfy you to see state issues left out of the speeches of Roosevelt and Nash?"

"Yes, sir, it did. I was entirely satisfied."

"Will State issues come up any more in the future during the campaign than they have already?"

"I don't know. I am not running the campaign."

"Will you answer this question," was next asked. "Will the Republicans make as much of State issues in this campaign as do the Democrats?"

In answer to this question Mr. Hanna replied:

"Do you remember what I said in Columbus once? Well, I said there that we knew our own business."

This was expected to put an end to any further questions on that subject, but one more was asked as to this discussion of trusts and the tariff, to which he replied:

"No, sir; I cannot answer that. I refuse to talk on that question."

That harmony does not exist in the ranks of the Republican factions in this city was made manifest today in a very decided manner, when Charles Galloway, clerk of the courts, and a strong follower of the Kurtz-Bushnell faction, refused to permit his deputies to attend the Nash-Hanna opening at Akron, says a special. Two of these clerks, Joseph Lott and Charles Frank, are members of the Republican Glee Club, and were desirous of attending the Akron meeting. Apparently they were reluctant about asking permission to attend the meeting, and Prof. W. H. Lott, musical director of the club, was selected to do the asking. Mr. Lott called up the clerk's office by telephone and asked to talk to Mr. Galloway. The clerk was busy at the time, and Jacob Reed, who answered the telephone, asked if any message should be sent to his boss.

"Ask him," said Mr. Lott, "if Joe Lott and Charley Frank can get off Saturday to accompany the club to Akron?"

Mr. Galloway's response was to the point.

"Tell him," said the clerk, "that neither Joe Lott nor any other man in my office can go to Akron Saturday."

This was the end of the conversation, and as a natural result, the entire office force was at work Saturday. It is rumored that from now on the Kurtz-Bushnell people will make an open fight on Judge Nash and everybody on the county ticket who is allied with the Hanna forces.

The DEMOCRAT was the only local paper Saturday which gave figures showing the number of men in line. By actual count, 2,918 men, women and children passed this office in the parade. The Sunday World's count increases the number 25, the reporter from that paper making it 2,943.

JUDGE GRANT Invited to Speak at Hamilton Meeting.

His Writings Have Attracted Attention—Democrats Want to Hear Him.

Chairman Seward, of the Democratic State Executive Committee, informed the DEMOCRAT today that an invitation had been extended to Judge C. R. Grant of Akron to speak at the state campaign opening at Hamilton next Saturday.

Judge Grant left for Toronto, Sunday, to look after his Canadian business interests. He will be gone for several days.

Judge Grant's able writings upon political and economic questions have attracted considerable attention all over the state and Ohio's Democrats would be glad to have an opportunity to hear him upon the rostrum.

SPEAKERS

Of Great Reputation

Will be Present at State Convention

Of Ohio Woman Suffrage Association.

Mrs. Jack Casement the First President.

Never Lost an Opportunity to Lend Helping Hand.

The coming annual convention of the Ohio State Woman Suffrage Association which convenes in Akron, October 2 and 3, bids fair to be one of the most interesting ever held by this association, says Elnora M. Babcock in the Cleveland World.

Quite a number of Cleveland women are on committees of the State organization and a large delegation from this city will attend the convention.

Among the prominent women who will deliver addresses during the convention are: Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt of New York, national organizer and lecturer, and one of the most eloquent speakers upon the public platform; Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Warren, O., treasurer National Suffrage association, and Rev. Henrietta G. Moore of Springfield, O. Miss Moore is pastor of a large church in Springfield, and has lectured in every state and territory in the Union. She is a direct descendant from a member of the "Boston Tea Party" and inherits the same love of liberty which has made her ancestors immortal.

The present association was organized in 1885, with Hon. Ezra B. Taylor, father of Harriet Taylor Upton, as president. Judge Taylor was an ardent advocate but owing to his many duties as a member of congress, he was obliged to decline the office, and the vice president, Mrs. Frances Casement, became president. Mrs. Casement is the wife of Gen. "Jack" Casement. Their home is in Painesville, but at present they are in Costa Rica, where the general is building a railroad.

Judge Taylor never lost an opportunity to lend a helping hand to the cause of woman suffrage, and when in congress he was chairman of the judiciary committee which brought in a majority report in favor of a sixteenth amendment, giving women the right to vote. He wrote Miss Anthony that his daughter, Harriet, who was a most wonderful woman, was largely influential in bringing about the favorable result.

Mrs. Caroline McCollough Everhard, of Massillon, was the second president. She is a beautiful, rich and highly accomplished lady. On the night that the news of McKinley's election became known Mrs. Everhard went to Canton and was the first person to congratulate Mr. McKinley. Mrs. Everhard is a director of one of the Massillon banks. She has three children all of whom are married.

The present president, Mrs. Harriet Brown Stanton of Cincinnati, is a modest, retiring woman of Quaker ancestry, the wife of a prominent physician and a member of the state board of health. Her husband is as ardent a suffragist as herself, and his sister, Caroline Stanton, was one of the secretaries of the second woman's rights convention held in this country at Salem, O.

Mrs. Louisa Southworth and Mrs. Darius Caldwell of this city are among the best known suffragists in the state. Mrs. Southworth is a life member of the National Suffrage association, as is also Mrs. Everhard. To become a life member requires the payment of $50 into the national treasury.

CAPT. DOWLING

Says Hon John R. McLean Will Carry Ohio.

Democrats Are United—Ticket Will Get Republican Support.

Capt. Jos. H. Dowling, who is one of Dayton's prominent Democrats, and closely identified with the party's State organization, called at the DEMOCRAT office while in Akron, Saturday.

"I am here to get a few pointers upon Mr. Hanna's campaign opening," said Capt. Dowling. "I've heard a great many Republicans say today that they regard the meeting as a frost, so far as any benefit to Judge Nash is concerned. Roosevelt is the whole thing. You can say that with fine weather, the Democrats will have one of the greatest campaign openings at Hamilton on next Saturday that ever happened. More than 20,000 people will be there, exclusive of the Cincinnati delegation. Hon. John R. McLean is going to be Ohio's next Governor. Our ticket will get solid Democratic support, while thousands of Republicans will vote for our candidates as a rebuke to Hannaism, imperialism and war taxation."

Capt. Dowling said that an invitation had been extended by the Executive committee to Judge C. R. Grant of Akron, to deliver an address at the Hamilton meeting.

LESSON

For the Home on Sanctity of Marriage.

Rev. J. E. Bushnell's Sermon at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Rev. J. E. Bushnell, at the request of the Luther League of the Trinity Lutheran church, preached an interesting and instructive sermon on "A Lesson for the Home on the Sanctity of Marriage" last evening.

Rev. Bushnell related many practical problems that arise in married life, and told how to solve them. He emphasized the fact that marriage was a divine appointment of God and therefore it should not be lightly spoken of in our common fellowship. God intended that marriage should be a blessing to man, and he is appointed the only sacred foundation of a home.

Speaking on the subject of divorces, he said that it appears that in no case that the Lord did advise or approve of divorces in the sense of authorizing a woman of separation to marry again. He was, at this point, careful to put stress on the fact that a separation between husband and wife is often justified on grounds of cruelty and other reasons, but in such cases the state or church should not authorize such parties to marry again.

The men were frightened away. They had the harness out of the barn, but dropped it in their haste. One of the fellows appeared at the barn last week and wanted to purchase a harness. The next time they make an evening call they will be treated to a hot reception.

BEST FELLOW

Of the Robbed Girl's Sister Was Brown.

Two Alleged Burglars Brought to Akron—One Pleads Guilty.

There is a very interesting story connected with the burglary of the residence of Mrs. Anna Souers, 270 Carroll st. last Thursday morning.

Through the clever work of Sheriff Kelly, assisted by Detectives DeCelle and Doran, two men are in custody, one of whom has pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny. The men were arrested in Cleveland, Friday. They were brought to Akron, Sunday. They registered as Curtis Brown and Mike Murray.

The last named, it is claimed by the officers, is a man with an extensive record. Brown formerly lived in Cleveland and is not so well known.

For some time he was the favored friend of a sister of Miss Susan L. Beatty. It was while calling on the sister that he discovered the fact that Miss Beatty wore a beautiful diamond ring. He communicated the news to Murray and plans were laid for the robbery. Miss Beatty lived at the Souers residence and Brown was familiar with the house.

The night of the robbery Miss Beatty recognized Brown's voice, this leading to his arrest. He entered a plea of guilty in Police court and was taken to the county jail. Murray claims he is innocent. He will have a hearing Thursday.
